How did the Fund perform in the last year?

The Fund underperformed its primary benchmark, the S&P 500 Index, for the 12-month period ending March 31, 2025.

The Fund's largest allocations over the reporting period included SIMT Core Fixed Income Fund, SEI Select International Equity ETF, and SIMT Multi-Asset Accumulation Fund, all of which contributed positively to Fund performance. SEI Select International Equity ETF was both the strongest performer and the largest contributor to Fund performance for the period. International equity markets rallied in the first quarter of 2025, supported by announced fiscal stimulus plans in Europe and a shift toward more accommodative monetary policy. Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities (TIPS) benefitted from both from the stabilization of long-term yields and inflation, as measured by the consumer price index (CPI), remaining stubbornly high. Credit spreads remained historically tight, bolstering the performance of both investment-grade and high-yield fixed-income funds.

The Fund's holdings in SIMT Liquid Alternative Fund and SEI Select Small Cap ETF marginally detracted from performance over the reporting period. Small-cap equities lagged the broad market due to their greater sensitivity to shifting macroeconomic conditions. The notable upturn in U.S. large-cap equities during the last three quarters of 2024 benefited the performance of SEI Enhanced U.S. Large Cap Momentum Factor ETF during the period.

The Fund is designed to have exposure to a broad range of asset classes, not all of which are reflected in its primary benchmark, the S&P 500 Index. The Fund underperformed the S&P 500 Index over the reporting period due to its comparatively higher allocation to fixed-income securities, which underperformed stocks over the period.
