What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Fund Name	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
High Yield Bond Fund, Class I Shares	$122	1.18% ⁽¹⁾

⁽¹⁾ The expense ratio includes a proxy fee expense. Had this expense been excluded the ratio would have been 1.12%.

How did the Fund perform during the last 10 years?

Total Return Based on $100,000 Investment

How did the Fund perform in the last year?

Class I Shares underperformed its benchmark, the ICE BofA U.S. High Yield Constrained Index, for the 12-month period ending September 30, 2025.

Contributors to Fund performance for the period included both an overweight allocation to and security selection in the healthcare sector, an allocation to structured credit (which is managed by SEI Investments Management Corporation), and an underweight to and selection within the leisure sector. Security selection in the retail, basic industry, and transportation sectors detracted from Fund performance.

Among Fund managers, Ares Capital Management II LLC outperformed the benchmark due to security selection in the healthcare and technology and electronics sectors. Benefit Street Partners, LLC outperformed the benchmark due to an overweight to and security selection in the financial services sector, as well as security selection within technology and electronics. Brigade Capital Management, LP's outperformance was attributable to an overweight to and security selection in the healthcare and financial services sectors. J.P. Morgan Investment Management Inc. outperformed due to an overweight to and security selection in media and security selection in telecommunications. T. Rowe Price Associates, Inc. outperformed due to security selection in the real estate and banking sectors.

Regarding the use of derivatives during the period, the Fund employed currency forwards to hedge the currency risk of a position. The currency forwards did not have a significant impact on Fund performance.
