How did the Fund perform in the last year?

Class I Shares outperformed its benchmark, the Wilshire U.S. Real Estate Securities Index, for the 12-month period ending September 30, 2024.

Over the reporting period, the Fund's sole sub-advisor—CenterSquare Investment Management (CenterSquare)—outperformed the benchmark for the reporting period. The manager modestly outperformed the index over the first three quarters of the reporting period, but this quickly accelerated in the third quarter of 2024, as the Federal Reserve (Fed) implemented its first rate cut since its rate-hiking regime began in March 2022, and investors diversified away from the concentrated technology sector into lower-volatility, "bond proxy" sectors of the market, including real estate.

CenterSquare's performance benefited from both positive sector allocation and security selection during the reporting period. Overweight positions in telecommunications towers, banks, and specialized real estate investment trusts (REITs), as well as an underweight to industrial REITs, also had a positive impact on performance. Security selection in health care REITs was the largest contributor to the sub-advisor's performance for the period.

At the security level, holdings in Prologis Inc., American Healthcare REIT, American Tower Corp., and Ventas Inc., were the largest contributors to CenterSquare's performance for the period while positions in Welltower Inc., and Rexford Industrial Realty Inc., were the most notable detractors from performance.

As of the end of the reporting period, CenterSquare's portfolio was most overweight to data center REITs, and the largest underweight was in multi-family residential REITs.
