The table and graph presented above do not reflect the deduction of taxes a shareholder would pay on Fund distributions or the redemption of Fund Shares. Past performance is not indicative of future performance.

* As of September 30, 2024, pursuant to the new regulatory requirements, this index has been added to represent the broad-based securities market index.

How did the Fund perform in the last year?

Class I Shares outperformed its benchmark, the Russell 2000 Growth Index, for the 12-month period ending September 30, 2024.

The momentum managers garnered the highest returns among the Fund's sub-advisors, as the momentum factor saw strong performance over the reporting period. The SIMC quantitative investment management (QIM) team's momentum strategy benefited from tailwinds to the momentum factor as well as strong stock selection within the consumer discretionary sector. Jackson Creek Investment Advisors LLC outperformed on momentum tailwinds, and later in the period benefited from the positive returns of the lower-volatility factor. Stock selection in the consumer discretionary and health care sectors also enhanced performance. EAM Investors, LLC moderately outperformed the Fund's benchmark due to momentum style tailwinds. However, the manager also faced moderate headwinds later in the reporting period due to the portfolio's higher-volatility posture. For the period in which the sub-advisor was in the Fund, ArrowMark Colorado Holdings, LLC (ArrowMark) contributed positively to Fund performance due largely to a strength in the biotechnology space. For the period in which the manager was in the Fund, Polen Capital Management, LLC (Polen) underperformed the benchmark amid quality style headwinds and weak stock selection within the health care and consumer discretionary sectors.

Regarding sector allocation, Fund performance was hampered by an overweight allocation to the energy sector, which sold off late in the period, and an overall underweight to information technology, which performed well until late in the period. Performance benefited from stock selection in industrials, health care, consumer discretionary, and financials. This was only partially offset by weak stock selection in information technology.

Regarding factors, the Fund's bias towards the cheapest names in the Russell 2000 Growth Index and its tilt towards the highest-quality names in the index hampered performance. The Fund's positive momentum exposure had a positive impact. A slightly lower beta posture enhanced Fund performance over the period, while its somewhat smaller market-cap exposure was a modest detractor.
