Returns shown are total returns, which assume the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. The table and graph presented above do not reflect the deduction of taxes a shareholder would pay on Fund distributions or the redemption of Fund Shares. Past performance is not indicative of future performance.

* As of September 30, 2024, pursuant to the new regulatory requirements, this index has been added to represent the broad-based securities market index.

How did the Fund perform in the last year?

Class F Shares modestly underperformed its benchmark, the Bloomberg 1-5 Year U.S. TIPS Index, for the 12-month period ending September 30, 2024.

The Fund's positioning was closely aligned with that of its benchmark over the reporting period. Inflation continued to ease during the period, but remained above the Federal Reserve's 2% target, and the macroeconomic focus shifted to economic growth and the health of the labor market. Tentative signs of cyclical moderation signaled the onset of a synchronized global monetary policy easing cycle.

Against this backdrop, real yields rallied sharply across the yield curve and Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities (TIPS) delivered strong total returns. Inflation breakeven rates— the difference between the nominal yield on a fixed-rate bond and the real yield (an adjusted yield that takes into account the impact of inflation) on an inflation-linked bond of similar maturity and credit quality— tightened over the period, preventing real yields from keeping pace with the sharp rally in nominal yields. This led TIPS to underperform comparable-duration conventional Treasuries.
